Krodel And Bryant Featured Speakers

By Lois Piotter

"The New Man of the Hour" is the theme of Spiritual Emphasis Week which begins tomorrow.

Dr. Gerhard Krodel, professor of the New Testament at Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, will give the sermon at the Sunday morning worship at 10. Before coming to the Seminary, Dr. Krodel was head of the Religious Department at Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, and also chaplain at that school.

Texan Also To Speak

Pastor Robert Bryant will be the other featured speaker. Pastor Bryant, a native Texan, is on the staff of the Christian Faith-and-Life Community in Austin, Tex. This community was founded in 1952 as an experiment in the communication of the gospel to twentieth-century man.

Part of Pastor Bryant's job has been to teach and counsel the University of Texas students who live in the unique community which involves worship, studies, seminars and lectures.

Before joining the Faith-and-Life Community staff in 1959, Pastor Bryant spent three months visiting and studying various lay centers across the United States.

Convocation Features "No Exit"

The convocation scheduled for Monday will consist of the presentation of the play "No Exit." Director John Gill encouraged students to get to the Chapel-auditorium by 10 a.m. because the play is going to begin exactly at that time with no introduction.

"No Exit" by Jean-Paul Sartre was adapted from the French version by Paul Bowles. The cast includes Bill Thompson, sophomore, as the valet; junior Kay Knopf as Inez; Bonnie Loufek, sophomore, as Estelle and sophomore Jim Steinbrecher as Garcin. Ken Weiss, freshman, is assistant director to Gill.

Three Given Hell

A very unusual situation is presented in this one-act play. Three people find themselves locked up together in a single room for eternity. Because of the distinct conflict in characters, the situation becomes a "hell" — not the fire and brimstone type but hell nonetheless.

Several copies of "No Exit" have been placed on reserve in the library and students should try to read it so that the play could be more deeply appreciated, said Gill.

Chapel Cut To One Nightly

Only one chapel service will be held each evening, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Monday's chapel, "The Predicament of Life," will deal with an interpretation of the play on Pastor Bryant's part. Pastor Bryant will also be the speaker at the other chapels.

Climaxing the week's activities will be a Communion service Thursday night at 7:30. Pastor August Baetke, head of the Sociology Department, will deliver the sermon.

Bryant To Meet Groups

Two more convocations will be held during the week featuring Pastor Bryant as speaker. Tuesday's convo theme is "The Time of Possibility." "The Demand of Time" will complete the convo schedule Thursday morning, still following the general theme of the week, "The New Man of the Hour."

Luncheons and dinner dates have been planned for Monday through Thursday. Monday noon those students in the religious pre-professional groups will have an opportunity to talk with Pastor Bryant at a luncheon in the small dining room. Monday night Bryant will have dinner with the campus church council.

Tuesday noon the science groups are invited to come to the small dining room, and members of Alpha Chi are slated for a Tuesday evening meeting with Pastor Bryant at 5:30.

Friedrichs Services Monday

Funeral services for Jack Friedrichs, 21-year-old Wartburg senior killed in a car wreck Thursday, will be held Monday afternoon at 1:30 or 2 p.m. in Fort Dodge.

A memorial service for Friedrichs will be held here after Tuesday's convo, according to Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann. The service is being held after Tuesday's convo rather than Monday's because it was felt that the play scheduled for Monday would not provide the appropriate atmosphere for a memorial service, according to Oppermann.

Wife, Daughter Not Hurt

Friedrichs was killed shortly after 7 p.m. Thursday three miles south of New Hampton as he, his wife and his two-year-old daughter, Rebecca, were going to watch his brother Norm's Janesville wrestling squad at New Hampton. Friedrichs' 18-year-old wife was only slightly injured and was released after treatment, and the little girl was not hurt.

According to police reports Friedrichs apparently skidded on the icy road and sideswiped one semi truck before crashing head on into another semi. The car was demolished.

Friedrichs Is Transfer

Friedrichs had come to Wartburg the second semester of last year after attending Fort Dodge Community College for two years. He had gone to summer school here last summer.

Living in the trailer court, Friedrichs was a math major who had planned to go into teaching. He graduated from Fort Dodge High School in 1958.

Friedrichs had been out for wrestling and occasionally wrestled at 123 pounds.

Movie Tonight

"Ask Any Girl," starring David Niven and Shirley MacLaine, will be shown tonight at 7:30 in the Little Theater.

The movie, a cinemascope color production, is being sponsored by the American Chemical Society.

Maybe Some Day—

ABOVE IS THE architect's concept of Wartburg's proposed Science Building. The Building Committee met last Friday to study the plans and will meet again Mar. 2 to further study plans so that Wartburg will be ready for a possible government loan should Congress pass the bill that is now in the workings, according to Pres. C. H. Becker.

Under the proposed federal government plan, private colleges like Wartburg could borrow money to erect buildings but only buildings that would not have religion taught in them. Chances for the bill passing are still quite uncertain, however, because of the religious issue.

Carnival Up To Students

Students will get a chance to vote next Tuesday on whether or not they want a student carnival this year, according to Dick Buchsteiner, chairman of a special Carnival Research Committee.

The value of the carnival was questioned last year, so the Student Senate set up the committee to investigate the carnival and alternatives. The questionnaire, which will also go to administration and faculty members, is part of the committee's research.

Buchsteiner said that there would also be places on the questionnaire for student body project suggestions, for ideas to improve the carnival if it were held and for a carnival theme.

Last year the carnival earned a net profit of $435 out of the total student body project collection of $1,000 according to Buchsteiner. According to Trumpet files, the year before $1,400 was collected with $490 coming from the carnival.

"Students should be considering the carnival and talking about it to make helpful suggestions on the questionnaire," said Buchsteiner.

Choral Clinic Here

Wartburg College Mid-winter Choral Clinic is taking place today with 10 Iowa high schools expected to attend.

Guest clinician will be Prof. Bernhardt H. West-

Prayer Day Is Tomorrow

Universal Day of Prayer for students will be observed on campus tomorrow in four services to be held in Danforth Chapel.

On this day students all over the world will join in prayer and worship. It has been observed annually since 1895 when the World Student Christian Federation was formed.

This day aims to provide a common experience of prayer and worship so students may transcend the barriers which divide them and also help to realize the oneness between them in Christ.

Services in Danforth Chapel will be held at 8 a.m. and at 1, 4 and 7 p.m. Speakers will be seniors Al Putz and Norm Woelber, junior Phil Borleske and James Moniz, Business Administration and Economics Department.

Handling the day of prayer is the Lutheran Student Association.

lund, chairman of the Department of Music at Milton College, Milton, Wis.

Schmidt To Demonstrate

Westlund will rehearse the six-hundred-voice massed chorus during the day and conduct a late afternoon performance. Four religious selections will be given by the mass high school chorus in the Knights Gymnasium at 4 p.m. In addition, individual high school choruses will perform.

An organ demonstration by Dr. Warren Schmidt, Music Department, will be presented in the Fine Arts Building from 12 to 12:30 p.m. Westlund will be speaking to the choral directors during the directors' conference.

Workshops Scheduled

During the clinic each high school choir will attend an hour-long workshop with a staff member of the Wartburg Music Department. Each school is invited to bring soloists and ensembles which will perform for members of the clinic staff, according to Maynard Anderson, clinic co-chairman.

High school directors participating in the clinic will be guests of Wartburg's Music Department at the Directors' Conference, with dinner at Carver's Restaurant from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Maynard Anderson and Dr. James Fritschel, Castle Singers director, are in charge of the clinic.

Ticket Troubles

Tickets to the Vienna Choir Boys concert which is still over a week away are as scarce as hen's teeth. If you got them without any trouble or if you got a decent seat, you were extremely lucky.

Tickets for this program, by far the most popular on this year's Artist Series, were to have been distributed last Wednesday and Thursday. But by Wednesday noon the regular tickets were long gone. Some students got tickets for the cushion seats but ended up in Row ZZ or so high in the balcony. To meet the demand, tickets were issued for folding chairs that will be set up in every possible space allowable.

Many students were quite dissatisfied with the ticket handling and rightly so. Most had waited for this Artist Series and were disappointed at the prospect of being turned away the first time they tried to get tickets. Disgust was evident.

To see what was going on, I checked with Dr. A. W. Swensen, head of the Artist Series committee, and told him about the dissatisfaction. He said that any student who wanted a ticket would get one.

Swensen brought our several points worth mentioning. First, he said the same number of tickets were kept on campus for the Vienna Choir Boys as for any other Series, thereby dispelling rumors that 300 less had been kept back so that there would be more outside sales. No matter how many there were, where did they all go? Blame can't be slanted at anyone if the number of tickets retained for students was the same as before.

The idea that students have already paid for their seats through activity tickets and have a right to see the program didn't work with Swensen. He cited several examples of students' paying for programs they couldn't see — Mankato State in Minnesota, he said, had 5,000 students and only a 700-seat auditorium, meaning at least 4,300 couldn't see a program they had paid for. But maybe their programs aren't so good.

Why not the gym which seats nearly twice as many as the Chapel-auditorium? But Swensen said that it had been considered by the committee and turned down because of the poorer facilities, and there is a good point in that.

Why not give students their tickets earlier and then sell the remainder in the area?

With a popular program like this, the Artist Series takes a great financial beating because students are taking the places of higher paying customers. Students do pay only a small fraction of what regular seats would cost.

If the committee wants to make money, perhaps the Artist Series ticket charge could be taken out of the activity ticket and students could buy tickets individually at half the regular price, for example, which is more than students are paying now.

There are certain definite statements about Wartburg's Artist Series program:

(1) It is the best Series of its kind for colleges anywhere near the size of Wartburg.

(2) Dr. Swensen has done a tremendous job as committee chairman without receiving a cent of extra remuneration.

(3) Students have paid for the programs and should have a right to see those they want to as long as the building is large enough. They should have first chance at tickets (not the best seats in the house, necessarily) since Swensen has said that the program is set up on a four-year basis, primarily to give culture to students.

(4) The Artist Series does need some outside funds to make ends meet.

Swensen said that he didn't like all the complaints by students because there was nothing constructive in them. Maybe not.

But, please, don't make it so hard for us to go to our own Artist Series.

One-Party System Is Best

(Editor's Note — This is another in a series of articles on Africa by exchange student Ernest Abajah who comes from Kenya, West Africa.)

By Ernest Abajah

Many people have asked me why we (the Africans) rush and demand freedom when we are still unable to govern ourselves democratically.

From the African point of view democracy means, categorically speaking, being able to sit down and talk over an issue until you come to a compromising conclusion regardless of whether there is an opposition party or not. Therefore, most of us do not need two parties.

Two Parties Weak

In fact, we assume that the two-party system of government will not only delay passing resolutions in the houses (assemblies) but will also provide a weak link where enemies could easily find a loophole and thereby retard our progress.

One party assures three political needs in our newly independent countries:

- (1) Strong leadership.
- (2) Carefully defined objectives.
- (3) Precise instructions on how to fulfill these objectives.

Unity Already Proven

However, it would be necessary for opposition to exist, but that is not necessary at this stage. The unity of each African state has been proved by mass desire and a feeling of nationalism against colonialism.

Therefore, it is not our intention to squander this chance of unity by adopting a system which would only reduce our political strength and bar our progress. What we need is fundamental revolution.

Subsequently, our strength should be mobilized and directed toward a common goal of political stability which can only be achieved by one party.

Africans Need Stimulants

A political system based on two parties would be a check on our revolution. The stimulants that are necessary to keep us going are nothing less than our needs, our aspirations and our hope and determination to move ahead at all costs.

This does not mean necessarily that we are siding with East or West philosophy of government as such. After all, man is not a slave to philosophical ideas, but he is liable to use the ideas if they enhance possibilities to the solutions of his problems.

Both Sides Influential

Therefore, in Africa the door is open for both East and West to influence and help on the basis of finances, technical assistance and education.

But political organization must spring up out of the African context. Therefore, we cannot be expected to start off as full-blown, western-style parliamentary democracies.

We can only achieve that gradually with your help and if you are ready to accept our conservatism which is the only way of preserving our individuality.

Coeds Picked As Editors

Three coeds will head the Wartburg publications next year for the first time ever.

Junior Louise Loots will head the Castle, junior Pat Reab will lead the Fortress and junior Elaine Melchert will sound the Trumpet in 1962-63. The girls were selected this week at the meeting of the Publications Committee.

Loots To Toot Castle

Miss Loots, from Manson, is presently serving as associate editor on the Castle and has also been Trumpet club columnist during the year.

An English major, she plans to teach after graduation. She was recently accepted into Alpha Phi Gamma, honorary journalism fraternity.

Presently serving on the Fortress staff, Pat Reab will edit next year's Fortress. Miss Reab, who comes from Manly, is an English major and plans to go into Library Science.

Melchert Knows Ropes

Miss Melchert is a three-year veteran of the Trumpet, having served as news editor and managing editor. An English major from Maquoketa, Miss Melchert plans to go into the field of journalism.

This summer she will be going abroad to tour Europe and work in Germany. She is also a member of Alpha Phi Gamma and Hans Sachs, campus German club.

Senate Studies Retreat

Student Senate adopted the idea of a leadership retreat for later this spring at its weekly meeting last Monday night.

Tentative date for the retreat would be May 12 and the retreat might be limited to the student government area and may not include organizational presidents' as past meetings have.

Another item of discussion was a men's senior board, patterned on the present Women's Judiciary Council which takes care of girls' disciplinary matters. Senators will discuss this more thoroughly after the Student Welfare Committee presents a recommendation to the Senate.

The possibility of paying the intramural chairman was also considered by the Senate. Student Body President Al Snook will talk to Dave Olson, director of physical education, about the situation.

Christ Depicted In Art Exhibition

An art exhibit depicting "The Life of Christ" is presently being shown at the Fine Arts Center and will be there until next Friday.

This is the second biannual exhibit to be presented here by the East and West Iowa Districts of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. It is a competitive exhibition open to all artists of Iowa and some out-of-state artists by invitation.

Tomorrow afternoon, as part of Spiritual Emphasis Week, cake and coffee will be served to students who attend the exhibit, according to Helen Wright, Art Department.

Fellowship Info Available

Information on National Defense Graduate fellowships and programs for the year 1962-63 may be obtained from Dean of Faculty J. O. Chellevold.

A National Defense Graduate Fellowship is a three-year award which cannot be obtained simultaneously with assistance under any direct federal educational benefit except the Student Loan Program.

A student must devote himself on a full-time basis to his study or research without outside employment with the exception that he may be employed by his university in teaching, research or similar activities up to one-fourth of his time during one of the three years of his fellowship and may receive pay for such work.

Students apply directly to the graduate schools, which submit lists of nominees and alternates to the commissioner. He awards fellowships in March, according to Chellevold.

A student must be a citizen of the United States, be accepted for admission to the university as a full-time graduate student and must have completed the baccalaureate degree or its equivalent to be eligible. For more information, students should contact Chellevold.

Editorial Award Goes To Dexter

Senior Gerry Dexter was named last week as one of the top winners in Lumberman Mutual Insurance Company's annual safety contest for an editorial which appeared in the Trumpet Dec. 16.

Dexter will get $50 for winning second-place in the nation in the editorial division of the contest. His editorial was part of the annual Trumpet safety campaign and was on indifference and the driver. Several years ago Dexter received honorable mention for an editorial in the same contest.

The last two years the Trumpet as a paper had won a prize but failed to do so this year. Dexter was the first individual from Wartburg to ever win a prize in the editorial segment of the contest.

Grapplers Challenge Luther

After trouncing Simpson, 28-12 last Saturday, the Wartburg wrestlers entertain Luther this afternoon in hopes of running their season record to six wins and one loss.

The only loss was to Dubuque, 16-15, the day after the completion of semester finals. The Knights will have a chance to test Dubuque again when the Spartans come to Wartburg for the Iowa Conference Meet on Mar. 2, 3.

Rush Of Meets Coming

But before Mar. 2 the grapplers have a heavy schedule of four matches. Besides this afternoon's match, Wartburg will host Upper Iowa Wednesday. Next weekend the Knights take off on their last road trip, going north to Minnesota where they will meet Winona State College, Winona, and St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn.

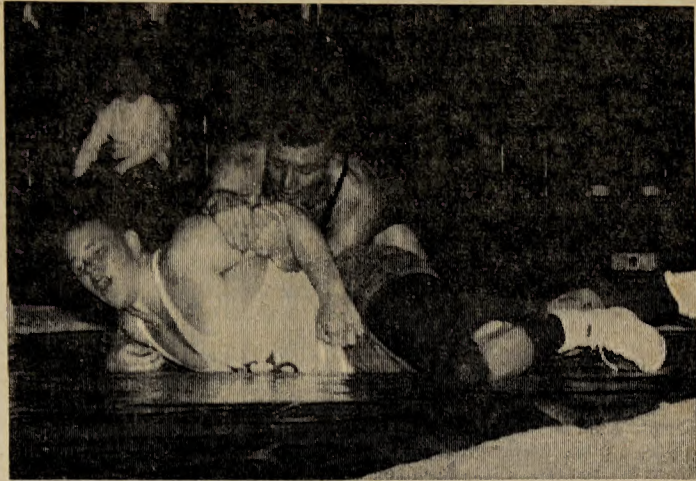

Last Saturday Coach Norm Johansen's squad rode to victory on three pins, a forfeit, two decisions and a draw. Junior Jim Mueller won his sixth consecutive match with a pin in 2:09.

Tower, Ackermann Get Pins

Junior Tim Tower, who has lost once this year, also picked up five team points with a pin. Freshman Len Ackermann, who has been tied but not beaten, took care of his 191-pound opponent in 2:15.

Freshman Forrest Cerney won by forfeit, while freshman Larry Lenning and sophomore heavyweight Duane Huth won by decisions and junior Bill Smith drew.

Damrow, Maskers Back

For today's meet sophomore Roger Damrow, 123, and Bernie Maskers, 167, return to competition.

The rest of the squad will be as it has been for most of the year. Smith will wrestle at 130; Mueller, 137; Cerney, 147; Tower, 157; freshman Jeff Milson, 177; and Ackermann, heavyweight.

Squires Tip SCI

Reserve guard Arlyn Ristau proved to be the hero for the Squires Tuesday night by sinking a shot with 14 seconds left to give the frosh an 87-85 win over the State College of Iowa freshmen.

Guard Jerome Hemenway led with 26 points, followed by Mo Sathoff with 18 and Paul Zietlow with 16.

W-Club Picks 2 Athletes

SENIOR DAR OEHLERICH was W-club's pick as the December Athlete of the Month for his basketball performances. Oehlerich, senior veteran who has been having scoring troubles lately, is the Knights' top scorer and playmaker. He is also a key baseball letterman.

LEFTY JIM BORCHERING, injured by flying arms and elbows several times this season, was chosen as W-club's January athlete. Borchering, top baseball pitcher when spring rolls around, teams up with Oehlerich as squad leader and is at his best when on defense.

Press Man Big Factor In Making Sports Star

By Paul Baumgarten

If you follow the sports pages of our daily tabloids at all you may be aware of the tremendous persuasive power of even a straight news story.

It can make or break a championship boxer, kill or bolster a governing federation or pick the "best" teams or competitors from an area or even the nation. These best players you will notice often come from those places with the best publicity organizations.

Baumgarten

The creation of a "best" player is a thing that creates a great deal of interest in itself. There is an interesting case in point right here in the Iowa Conference in the case of Jim Ahrens and his school, Buena Vista.

The illustration itself is drawn from the press releases, the "stuff" of which many news stories in the commercial papers are made.

They begin at the opening of practice on the last day of October of the preceding year. The first one describes the candidate's capabilities and achievements. It mentions that he was the all-time scoring leader of his school and he had a good chance to take the all-time scoring mark in the state.

However, this particular release does not carry too much weight since people who read these things realize that before the season starts they are mostly froth.

The next release of the season series comes out just before the team starts its first intercollegiate action. It says little more than the first one except that it adds the fact that the candidate is an excellent rebounder who finished fairly high in national statistics last year.

When the action begins, the press boys finally have something concrete to sink their teeth into. They are considerably aided when their newest flicker starts out strong statistically. This is what is important to the "team pickers" because they very often never see the candidates in action.

In a short time the words "Little All-American candidate" begin to appear. They have the effect of making the reader stop and check back over the performance of the player this season.

As the regular league season begins, the now rising little light does very well. This is played to the hilt, especially so since he becomes one of the leading rebounders and scorers in the nation.

When the half-way point of the campaign is reached, the light begins to dim a bit in some of the statistical facets of his play. It doesn't matter whether he is playing better or more poorly than before, his statistics are slipping.

Here is where the adroitness and true art of the publicity man must come to the fore. He now begins, very subtly and almost unnoticed, to play down the areas where the star slips and play up those where he shines more. The emphasis now changes from rebounding to scoring, and when a teammate is found to have more total field goals than he, to free throwing.

As the season draws to a close the words "Little All-American" begin to appear with increasing frequency having the same effect as they did before.

The results of the campaign won't be visible from this vantage point until at least a month from now. No one will know until then whether a star has been produced or just another one in a long line of flash-outs.

Lest someone read into this something which I don't intend to convey, I am not trying to criticize a competitor or the institution of newspaper publicity. It is of interest to a sports fan to be aware of another part of the world in which he plays his little part.

Trackmen Start Practice

Spring is four-and-a-half weeks away, but for Wartburg the track season is only two weeks in the future.

Coach Dave Olson is conditioning his thirty tracksters, including eight lettermen, for their first meet Mar. 3 against State College of Iowa and Buena Vista on SCI's indoor track.

Practice Limited

The squad has been practicing daily for two weeks at SCI. But because they can use the indoor facilities only from 2-3:30 in the afternoon, Olson said that the amount of practice the squad is getting is limited.

Coach Olson is happy over the number out, but is cautious about what the season may bring. Numbers Doubled This Year

"There are more out for track this year than for many years," said Olson. "We have double the number reporting last year. If we can develop quality from quantity, we will have an interesting year. If some freshmen come along, we may be stronger in some events than last year.

"Our biggest problem," continued Olson, "will be to find someone to replace Eddie Skay, the 100- and 220-yard conference champ last year."

Eight Back Again

Returning lettermen are seniors John Niemeyer, hurdles, and Dixon Zander, pole vault; juniors Fred Lichte, and Bill Riggle, middle distance, and Herald Schara, and Len Schmidt, high jump; and sophomores Lothar Columbus and Russ Leitz, distance.

Besides the first indoor meet on Mar. 3, the Knights are competing in two other indoor meets, both at SCI. Mar. 17 SCI and Grinnell are opponents and Mar. 24 the Knights will participate in the Iowa College Indoor Meet.

Knights Tackle Top-Ranking Parsons

Wildcats Favored In Return Battle

By Paul Mardorf
Revenge is the word tonight in Fairfield. The Knights will be seeking to turn the tables on the Parsons Wildcats who downed the Knights a month ago, 91-81.

Since that time Parsons has lost one conference game while the Knights have dropped three. Parsons, therefore, has fallen into a tie for the top spot in the conference standings with Buena Vista.

The two top clubs meet once yet this season.

Parsons Favored

Obviously, the Knights will be the underdogs. However, Wartburg was also the underdog when the two teams played earlier this year, and the Knights almost got the job done before falling behind in the late minutes of the game.

Next Friday the Flying Dutchmen from Central will invade Knightland to try and even the score with the Knights. The Knights downed Central 74-67 in their first meeting of the year.

Both Evenly Matched

The game should put two evenly matched teams face to face. Both squads have had their troubles this year, and both teams need a victory to assure staying out of the conference cellar.

Frigid first half shooting by the Knights last Saturday helped Simpson to a 99-73 conference win over Wartburg.

The Knight defense proved ineffective as Simpson scored with easy lay-ups and close-in shots. Leading the Redmen was freshman Tom Hensley, who ranks third in the nation in field goal percentage.

First Half Too Much

In the second half the Knights were outscored by only two points, 51-49, but the Redmen led at halftime, 48-24.

The story was much the same Tuesday night when the Knights fell to State College of Iowa, 92-67.

Cold shooting and rebounding troubles were the main problems for the Knights.

Hot Hands Aid Win

Led by guard Jerry Holbrook, the Panthers widened the lead with ease with 52.6 per cent shooting. The Knights shot 30.6 per cent for the game.

Bob Nielsen was high scorer for the Knights with 13 points. Al Buenning with 11 and Dar Oehlerich with 10 followed closely behind.

Wartburg Loses By 8 Last Night

Phoned In
By Duane Schroeder
College News Bureau

Wartburg lost its ninth conference game of the year and fifth straight game overall by dropping a 92-84 decision to Iowa Wesleyan in Mount Pleasant last night despite playing a good ball game.

Coach Fred Jaspers, abandoning the two-platoon system for the first time in many games, was well-pleased with the Knights' performance even though the fired-up Wesleyan team won. Wartburg is now 3-9 in the conference, Wesleyan, 6-7.

The game was tight most of the way but the Knights trailed by 10 points twice before rallying to tie up the score. With four minutes left in the game Wartburg had worked into a 79-79 tie on a lay-in by sophomore Ray Bye, but then the Tigers got 10 quick points between Joe Miquez and Bill Warth to ice the victory.

Half-time score was also tied at 49-49. And as in the last few games free throws again made the difference as Wartburg outscored Wesleyan 34-32 from the field but fell behind from the line.

TUECKE TEAMMATE RETURNS

Veteran Mehlhaus Skilled

By John Stumme

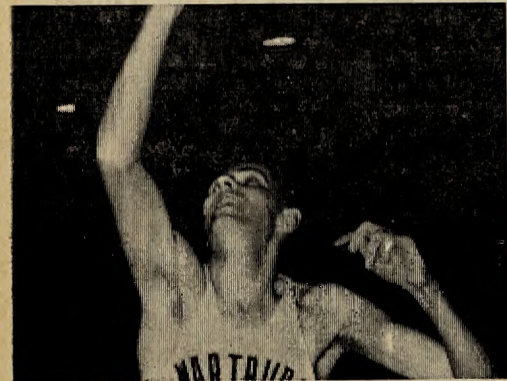

After a year-and-a-half lay off, senior letterman John Mehlhaus has returned to the Wartburg basketball scene.

Mehlhaus, a 6' 3½" forward-center, started his college career in '57-58, played for conference champs in '58-59 and '59-60, worked at home a year, and now is lending experience to the relatively young Knights.

Mehlhaus Starts In Grade School

The 24-year-old veteran got his first taste of real hardcourt competition when he was a grade schooler in his hometown of Dysart.

"A local minister started a Saturday league for fourth, fifth and sixth graders," said Mehlhaus. "That's the first time I played in organized ball."

Big John Mehlhaus
Adds Depth and Experience

From this conservative commencement, Mehlhaus went on to establish an impressive record at Dysart High School. Two years he was selected to the All-conference team as well as twice co-captaining his high school squad.

Mehlhaus Figures On Record Team

As a freshman at Wartburg, John got into 20 varsity games and grabbed off 48 rebounds. The next year, in the era of John Tuecke, Mehlhaus played in all of the 21 wins and 5 losses as the Knights teamed together to run up the best record in the history of the school. That year the slender reserve cleared the boards 215 times, second only to Tuecke, and scored 204 points.

In the next season Mehlhaus again showed his ability to rebound, averaging seven grabs in each of his ten games, before dropping from school at semester because of family illness.

Reconditioning Is Rugged

"With the amount of conditioning I've had, it's hard to get back into top-notch form" said Mehlhaus.

Defeating an arch-rival in a close contest is always an exciting moment for athletes. Mehlhaus is no exception.

"Besides winning two conference champs," he said, "beating TC (now SCD in the Tall Corn Tournament has been my most exciting moment."

Business Attracts John

Mehlhaus holds membership in two campus clubs, W-club and Business Students Association. He is a business major.

On the side he works for the Dean of Students as a "campus cop" who checks cars. Last August he was married to a 1961 Wartburg graduate, June Rickhoff.

It's too late for Mehlhaus to help the Knights much this year. But possibly he can give some veteran's advice to next year's returnees so that they can begin the 1962-63 season with a greater background of basketball knowledge.

42 Now In Student Teaching Program

Forty-two Wartburg seniors are now engaged in student teaching at the local schools according to Dr. H. J. Max, head of the Education Department.

Students teaching in the Waverly-Shell Rock junior and senior high schools are Jim Borcharding, Bob Mueller, Darwin Oehlerich and Lavonne Rickertsen in typing.

Many Teach Math

Dave Braunschweig, Frank Hudson, Carol Jensen, Margretha Radloff, Dave Rasmussen and Glenn Fenneman are instructing in math.

Braunschweig, John Niemeyer, Rasmussen, Sandra Reiners and Hudson are teaching science; and Roger Clark, Katherine Jensen, John Niemeyer, Sandra Remley and Bob Johannsen are teaching English; speech is being taught by Kathryn Koob.

Clark and Miss Remley are student teaching in art, James Schwarz in history and Karl Matzen in German.

Six Instruct PE

Boys' physical education teachers are Mueller, Oehlerich and Don Sowers; the girls' physical education is being taught by Miss Rickertsen, Charlene Yohe and Marlene Yohe.

Rhoda Schmidt, Charlene Yohe and Marlene Yohe are instructing in home economics. Diane Hart and Jean Semmler are teaching vocal music while Fred Stark is teaching instrumental music.

Joanne Niehaus is teaching vocal music at Denver High School, and at Janesville High School Barbara Dietz is teaching music and Charles Smith, math.

13 Teach Elementary

In the elementary education field Judith Gienger is instructing first grade and Gail Lovold third grade at Irving Grade School. Daryl Bloedorn is working with the first graders at Lincoln Grade School.

Also at Lincoln are Darlene Nimtz, second grade; Phyllis Schultz, third grade; and Janice Kriesel, fourth grade.

Those teaching at St. Paul's Christian Day School are Mary Markle, first grade; Katherine Grimm, third grade; Claudette Zwicker, fourth grade; Judith Eichhorn, fifth grade; and Curtis Peter, seventh and eighth grades.

At West Cedar Grade School are Audra Jacober teaching first grade and Janice Larson teaching fourth grade.

KWAR Gets New Console

KWAR, campus radio station, recently purchased a new console worth $1,200 to improve future broadcasts.

The station, operating on FM frequency at 50,000 to 15,000 cycles, is now broadcasting full high fidelity with the Collins console.

Other improvements recently completed at KWAR include total rewiring and redecorating of the control room. Visitors are welcome to the station at any time, according to program director Don Ehlers, who added that more students are needed in the programing and news departments.

Terry Havel, news director, has proposed to the Senate that the next student body project be an AM transmitter that would enable all broadcasts of the station to be heard on the college campus.

Another tentative plan for the future is the broadcasting of all home baseball games.

In addition to the regularly scheduled programs of the station, the next two home basketball games will also be broadcast as in the past weeks.

Brubeck Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the Dave Brubeck concert, to be given March 13, have been distributed to students in each of the dorms.

Rog Sherman, Punch Davis, Dennis Wendt and Art Ruppel are to be contacted for tickets in Clinton; Elaine Frantz is chairman in Centennial; and Verna Kammann and Marilyn Mangold have tickets in Wartburg Hall.

Jon Gruber is chairman of ticket sales in North Hall, and Lois Plotter and Loretta Wilson are selling tickets in Vollmer Hall. Norm Mielke, Paul Mardorf and Doug Aden can be contacted in Grossmann. Donald Schmitt is responsible for all off-campus men's residences.

Jim Ward and Terry Schneider, who are serving as general chairmen for this year's Pops Concert, encourage all students to buy their tickets in the near future.

Through distribution at the College Hill and the Music Corner sales are now open to the general public as well as students.

One Penny Saved One Minute Lost

Next Friday night Wartburg women will have the chance to stay out an extra hour—if they or their escorts pay a penny for each minute past midnight, up to a maximum of 60 minutes.

A "Penny Night" was held for the first time last March and netted a total of $30.50 for a total of 1,320 late minutes.

This event is sponsored by the Women's Judiciary Council, and the money will go into a fund for future use on a project involving Wartburg women.

Girls are reminded that they will not be allowed to take lates in addition to the "paid" hour, according to Margretha Radloff, president of WJC.

Totals Released

Total enrollment for the second semester is 1,038 students. There are 988 full-time students, 50 part-time students, and 31 new students, according to Mattie Harms, registrar.
